

CALLAGHAN MCLAUGHLIN

REAL-LIFE HEALTH SUPERHERO

Callaghan, a 6-year-old budding comedian, found a new way to use his Talent for telling jokes to help brighten people's days during the COVID-19 quarantine.

With his drive-by joke stand, Callaghan has helped keep his neighbors in Saanich, British Columbia, laughing and in high spirits. He accomplished all of this while still maintaining Canada's strict social distancing guidelines. He has been setting up his stand every morning since the pandemic and doesn't plan on slowing down anytime soon.

"There's a lot of stress in the world," he said, "and I kind of want to get some smiles on people's faces."
