REAL-LIFE RESCUE SUPERHERO

When 12-year-old Hu saw that work needed to be done to help a relief operation in his native country of China, he jumped into action.

After a disastrous flood displaced nearly 100,000 citizens in the Shaanxi Province, Hu spent his summer vacation helping transport goods and build barriers, a demanding job that required up to ten hours of hard labor every day. There was no stopping Hu, though, whose incredible efforts were noticed by the people around him.

“When this kid grows up,” observers of Hu’s hard work noted “our country will have nothing to worry about.”
